Grand Opening Ribbon Cutting for The First Citizens National Bank

On Monday, March 12, 2018, The First Citizens National Bank hosted a grand opening ribbon cutting ceremony to complete the construction project of the second location in Marion. The ceremony was held at 125 Eastlawn Drive, across from the OSU Marion Campus, the location of the newest office on the east side of town.

The new office is in addition to First Citizens' existing Marion office located at 1240 Delaware Avenue. Two offices in Marion will enable the bank to better serve its customers throughout Marion County and the surrounding areas. The Marion Eastlawn location features external architectural detail resembling the Harding Memorial with a three-lane drive thru. The interior of the building features bank of the future teller pods, self-service banking amenities and state-of-the-art furnishings that include a tech and coffee bar. The newest location will also soon display works of art from the Ohio State University Marion campus.

"The grand opening ribbon cutting ceremony was attended by Marion Chamber of Commerce staff as well as Chamber Ambassadors, CSI Construction owner Duane Frey, Grow Construction and Design owner Cynthia Grow, RCM Architect associate Lindsay Brusoe as well as First Citizens Board of Directors, executive officers and staff.

The First Citizens National Bank recently received Bauer Financial's highest 5-star rating for safety and soundness for the 100th consecutive quarter, and is excited to bring this stability to Marion's east side.
